OVERVIEW:

The COVID-19 pandemic and multiple natural and man-made disasters during the past few years have required hospitals to activate their emergency preparedness plans. In anticipation of patient injuries caused by such disasters, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) revised the Conditions of Participation for hospitals in 2020. This webinar will cover CMS regulations for a facility regarding emergency preparedness with the recent updates to include emerging infectious diseases. All covered facilities are required to have a written program to address the various natural and man-made emergencies that may impact delivery of care and patient safety. This program will cover the required elements for compliance with CMS regulations, including mandatory testing and training of all personnel. There will also be a brief discussion of references and resources from The Joint Commission.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

- Recall key definitions used in the regulations;
- Recite the three key essentials for emergency preparedness program;
- Explain the four core elements of an emergency preparedness program; and
- Discuss key responsibilities of a facility when the emergency preparedness plan is activated.

MEET YOUR FACULTY:

Laura A. Dixon, JD, RN, CPHRM

Laura Dixon is the president of Healthcare Risk Education and Consulting, LLC. Previously, she served as the Director of Facility Patient Safety and Risk Management and Operations for Colorado Region of Kaiser Permanente (COPIC) from 2014 to 2020. In this role, she provided consultation and training to facilities, practitioners, and staff in multiple states. She has more than 20 years of clinical experience in acute care facilities, including critical care, coronary care, peri-operative services, and pain management. Prior to joining COPIC, she served as the Director of the Department of Patient Safety - Western Region for The Doctors Company in Napa, California. In this capacity, she provided consultation to the physicians and staff for the western United States.
